Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 17 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A sunny morning, then turning cloudy. Showers in the west.

Today:
A dry day for most, with some sunny spells though the morning before cloud moves in during the afternoon. A few showers are likely in western areas during the morning and in the north later. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers in the north continue through the evening, before spreading to most areas during the early hours. Some clear spells may develop, but cloud will move in again before dawn. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Monday:
A few showers are likely in the morning, before outbreaks of heavy rain move in for the rest of the day. Staying cloudy all day and winds will strengthen later. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Persistent heavy rain on Tuesday and Wednesday, possibly turning to sleet or snow on Wednesday night as temperatures cool. Strong winds on Tuesday. Brighter on Thursday, with scattered wintry showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.